Keynote Address — Understanding the Challenge:

A Look at the Political Economy of Higher Education in the Early 21st Century

Prof. Mark Kornbluh, Political Historian
Dean, University of Kentucky College of Arts & Sciences

Garage parking is free for cars departing between 8:45 - 9:45pm.

Ernie Yanarella,
Chair & Prof.,
UK Dept. of
Political Science

Ernie Yanarella

Ernie Yanarella earned his Ph.D. from UNC-Chapel-Hill. He devotes his teaching and research interests to the areas of critical policy studies (energy and environment, agricultural and ecological policy), political theory (early, modern, and contemporary), political education, and politics and literature. His most recent research grants involved him in field work regarding sustainable cities in Canada, the U.S., and China. His book with architect Richard Levine, The City as Fulcrum of Global Sustainability (Anthem Press, 2011) will soon be followed by a companion work with KSU political science chair, Bob Lancaster, titled, Getting from Here to There: Power, Politics, and Urban Sustainability in North America.

Mark Kornbluh
Dean, UK
College of Arts
& Sciences

Mark Kornbluh, whose strong interests in history and technology unite the arts and sciences, is UK's new dean of A&S. Formerly professor and chair of the Dept. of History at Michigan State University, he also held an appointment there in the Dept. of Computer Science and Engineering. Kornbluh began his duties at UK last August. Six years ago, his work took an unexpected turn when he was invited to South Africa to use information technology to chronicle the history of people of color under apartheid. At UK, Kornbluh is focusing on three areas: expanding the use of information technology in the humanities, internationalizing the campus, and building interdisciplinary connections.

KPSA 52nd Annual Meeting

Former Kentucky State Treasurer Jonathan Miller, co-founder of No Labels
Dist. 62 State Rep. Ryan Quarles (R-Scott County)
Dr. Joe Brennan, Kentucky Labor Institute
Prof. Merl Hackbart, Interim Director of the Martin School of Public Policy & Administration

Emily Beaulieu
Ass't. Professor,
UK Dept. of
Political Science

Emily Beaulieu received her Ph.D. from the University of California, San Diego. Her dissertation, entitled, "Protesting the Contest: Election Boycotts around the World 1990-2002," examines the causes and consequences of election boycotts in developing countries. She is fluent in French as well as Spanish. Her general research interests include elections in developing countries, democratization, and electoral systems. Her articles have appeared in such publications as International Organization, Comparative Political Studies, and International Studies Review, and she is currently under contract with Cambridge University Press on a book entitled, Electoral Protest and Democracy in the Developing World.

D. Stephen Voss,
Assoc. Chair, DUS,
UK Dept.
of Political Science
President, KPSA

Steve joined the University of Kentucky in 1998, became Associate Professor in 2004, and has served as Director of Undergraduate Studies for five of the last seven years. After years as acting Associate Chair, he was formally appointed to the position this year. Steve's training in quantitative analysis has allowed him to expand his research, initially focused on elections and racial politics in the U.S. South, to look at a number of politically relevant behaviors and a variety of policy areas. Recently he has spent two summers doing field work in the Balkans related to transit migration through the region. His work has appeared in a variety of peer-reviewed outlets, including International Studies Quarterly, the Journal of Politics, and the American Journal of Political Science.

The Metro-Louisville Chapter of ASPA (Chapter #105) is pleased to sponsor the 2013 KPSA conference panels showcasing the research of MPA students and recent graduates. Through ASPA's programs and services, we seek to improve public service by helping members acquire knowledge, technical skills, and resources necessary to be excellent public servants.

Please note that we are in the process of changing our name to the
in order to better represent the entire Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Please contact Chapter President Victoria Gordon for membership information at victoria.gordon@wku.edu

Special thanks to Kathleen Elliott, Beverly Clayborne, Genecia Norwood, and Jordan Leising for invaluable assistance in preparing the KPSA meeting.
